SOUTH PROJECT
5-Year Contract Position

$60,101 to $75,491 per annum
with an excellent benefits package, including OMERS Pension Plan

Metrolinx is building two teams of Community Relations & Issues Specialists to make frontline contact and foster relationships with the residents of the communities surrounding the Georgetown South Project (GTS). Working out of the Strachan or Weston project offices, you will proactively liaise with residents through pamphlet-drops and face-to-face interaction to provide progress reports and keep them informed of how each project event may, or may not, impact their lives. Your experience with various forms of new-media will be utilized as you develop the content and format of the “media-room” portion of the project’s website. Your communication skills in all forms, from written communiques to interpersonal consultation, are of the highest calibre, and you have the references to support it. These communities are a vital source of ridership and goodwill for our current and future services, so it will be critical that you present an accurate, timely, transparent and cohesive story to them as this project continues to unfold and conclude with the delivery of service and infrastructure to the Pan-Am Games in 2015.
